HELPING COMPANIES SHAPE WORKPLACE CULTURES INTO WHAT THEY WANT TO BE KNOWN FOR

Stage Introduction

Tec Clark is a world-renown expert in the diving industry and he's also an expert in creating strong workplace cultures. His elite positions held include Managing Director of the University of Florida's Academic Diving Program, National Director of the YMCA Scuba Program and Captain of the United States Freediving Team.

Tec holds over 40 professional certifications with over 15 diving agencies. He's appeared as a diving expert on A&E, The Learning Channel, and Outdoor Life Network. Tec has also been a police officer, dive rescue team member, and a forensic diving accident investigator.

With Tec's vast experience in high-risk sport, he crafted cultures of safety, excellence and winning that he became known for. After analyzing attributes of workplace cultures that lead to successes or failures, Tec created a system that brings success in job satisfaction, productivity and differentiation that ultimately leads to profitability. And it is this same system that he shares with leaders and teams so they too can shape cultures they want to be known for.
